Official tolegrams announcing the defeat were received at the Colonial office at 12:30 this morning. They substantially confirm the details already given. The news of the defeat caused a sensation throughout London. The demand for newspapers at all the suburban stations was greater than since the outbreak of the Franco-German war.

LONDON TIMES ON THE CAPETOWN DISASTEIL.

LONDON, February 11.—The Times, commenting on the news from Capetown, says: Nothing can exceed the frankness of the recital, for it is clear, and nothing has been held back. It would be useless to deny either the sadness or the extreme gravity of the catastrophe. Whether there was or was not any want of vigilance on the part of our own force, it is clear that the Zulus are even more formidable than our military authorities expected them to be. It was known that they are well drilled, that great numbers are armed with breach-loaders, and that they could fight courageously. We now know but too well how large a force they can mass at one point. Sad as the loss of our troops is, still graver is the peril which must arise with defeat.
